April 2019

Dear Member,

Our Annual Show is now over and it was another success story even if our entries were down slightly. This was due to some of our regular members away for various reasons. It was good to see Terry and Marilyn Benbow from Hervey Bay (Fraser Coast Club) attend and take out a couple of variety awards. Our judge for the day Jamie Wright who did a great job and gave very clear comments on the reasoning of his decision making, was appreciated by the exhibitors. Jamie also gave a summary of his thoughts on the birds shown and was quite impressed with the overall quality presented. He did mention some birds could have placed higher if they had been presented better, mostly a lack of spotting. Something for members to keep in mind for future shows, but do not spot your birds for the Young Bird Show as it is too close to the zone selections for the Nationals. The results of this show are included in this newsletter.

As all members should be aware our club was successful in obtaining a grant for the purchase of new staging and a covered trailer. The new staging was in use for the Annual Show and was transported to the hall in the new trailer. Photo's of both appear later in this newsletter. Barry O'Rourke the Labor member for Rockhampton in the State Government handed over both pieces of equipment to the club on behalf of the Government. A story and photo's appeared in the Rockhampton Morning Bulletin. Members commented positively on the extra width of the shelves.

The zone selection show is in Mackay this year and if you can attend that would be great as it will ease the burden of getting the club team ready early on the Sunday morning instead of it falling once again to the faithful few. Club members that are hoping to get birds picked in the team for the Nationals should have their show team picked and show preparations underway. The Young Bird Show schedule is included in this edition of the newsletter.

As the Breeders Show was cancelled the Bird of the Year which is normally held in conjunction with it, was held in conjunction with the Annual Show. Only two eligible birds were entered with the Bird of the Year going to an Opaline Cinnamonwing Grey Green of Scott Eriksen. The Beginner Bird of the Year went to a Normal Green of Darrel Fisher.

There is also a couple of articles included which I hope everyone finds interesting and of some use.

Cheers,
Russell Ogden

A Little Mirth Getting a Hairdryer through Customs

An attractive young woman on a flight from Ireland asked the priest beside her,
“Father, may I ask a favour?”
“Of course child. What can I do for you?”

“I bought my mother an expensive hair dryer for her birthday. It is unopened but well over the customs limits and I’m afraid they’ll confiscate it. Is there any way you could carry it through customs for me? Could you possibly hide it under your robes for me?”

“I would love to help you my dear but, I must warn you, I will not tell a lie.”

“With your honest face, Father, I’m sure no one will question you.”
When they got to customs, she let the priest go first.
The official asked “Father do you have anything to declare?”

“From the top of my head to my waist I have nothing to declare.”
The official thought this answer a little strange, so he asked, “And what do you have to declare from your waist to the floor?”

“I have a marvellous instrument that has been designed for use on women, but which, to date, remains unused.”

Roaring with laughter, the official said, “Go ahead, Father. Next please.”

Bird Ailments and Their Treatment

By Dr Harry Cooper.

External Parasites.

(a) Scaly Face or Beak Mite. The development of a coral like appearance over affected areas is the result of a mite which feeds on debris that builds up around the beak. However, the parasite also affects other parts of the bird (below lower mandible, around eyes, external edge of ear, base of preen gland, anal area, base of major flight feathers and, of course, the legs. Insufficient attention to these other areas is the major problem in control of the ailment. Treatment is by suffocating the mite with a smear of oily substance such as Vaseline. Traditional use of strong antiseptics is not warranted and rapid restoration of normal tissue surface is expected. Some birds do appear to be resistant to infestation while others appear to be susceptible - close observation of the latter is warranted

(b) Red Mite. These will not be found on the birds during daylight but may be seen when dark areas such as nest boxes are disturbed. They attack the bird during darkness and can be a real nuisance, even though little physical injury will be apparent. Treatment is by use of a safe insecticide (malathion, carbaryl, or pyrethrin) with the latter (Mortein or Peabeau) preferred. Probably more effective through persistence is use of Vapona Strips (Shelltox or Marfu) provided the manufacturer's advice concerning coverage, ventilation and life are observed (Birds should not be allowed direct contact with these strips and use of perforated plastic jars to hold them is a common practice'

(c) Other Mites. A number of other mites infest Budgerigars but are mostly non- pathogenic. Some do attack feathers and treatment, if warranted, is as for red mite or, in extreme cases, by direct application of the insecticide onto the bird.

Internal Parasites.

(a) Air Sac Mite. This lives in the air sac and lung and even bone tissue. Its symptoms are variable but usually include dry, harsh respiration and tail pumping. Proper diagnosis requires autopsy. Treatment is by getting the birds to inhale an aerosol insecticide or the fumes of Vapona Strips (see under red mite above). A broad spectrum antibiotic such as ampicillin (Penbritin) at 500 mg per 4.5 litres of water is used to deal with secondary infections caused by an infestation of mites.

(b) Worms. A number of different worms inhabit Budgerigars and while tape worm segments may be seen when evacuated, the presence of others requires microscopic examination of faeces for confirmation. Treatment is by a number of drugs with Fenbendazole {Panacur being preferred. The 25% concentration product is used at the rate of 1ml per 3kg of body weight {Budgerigars average about 45g each) but care should be taken with application as it settles out of suspension in water. Nilverm is still in use but is extremely unpalatable, requiring denial of water for 24 hours. Its injectable form is used at the rate of 60ml per 4.5 litres of water, and the drench form at 105m1 per 4.5 litres of water. Worming three times a year should deal with problems, and once a year should suffice as a control measure.

Diseases.

- (a) Enteritis. This can be caused by parasites, Bacteria (salmonella and E.coli) or chlamydia and while the cause cannot be diagnosed by simple observation, it is noted that bacterial infection causes a hyperactive bowel, with food being only partly digested and fermenting - faeces are foul smelling and tend to be greenish in the case of Salmonella and whitish with an E.Coli infection. In the case of Chlamydia, faeces are sticky green with mucus. All internal organs are swollen, producing a fever' Treatment is by administration of Tetracycline - available as Terramycin and Aureomyein at rates up to 49 per 4'5 litres of water for a serious infection, and 500-1000 mg per 4.5 litres for control. Neomyein or Kanomycin may be preferred if the exact cause is doubtful. Control measures, such as maintenance of a dry floor, protection of water vessels against contamination, elimination of rodents' and reduction of stress are essential'
- (b) Coccidia, In its chronic form produces a thick white pasty diarrhoea around the vent and in its acute form' perforation of the bowel wall, when internal bleeding can cause rapid death' Page 23 Treatment is by use of Amprol mix Plus at up to 20ml per 4.5 litres of water, and a dosage rate of 3-5ml per 4'5 litres can provide control. This drug is extremely safe'
- (c) Chronic Respiratory disease. This is similar to the effects of air sac mite, but tends to cause a wet discharge and a wet sounding respiration. It is not a major problem in Budgerigars. Treatment is by Galomycin'
- (d) Nutritional Deficiency' Lack of iodine causes enlargement, of the thyroid gland (goiter) and is difficult to distinguish from other respiratory diseases. Abnormal breathing with a sharp "eh eh eh" sound immediately after flight is a clue. Treatment is by addition of a little tincture of iodine to water once a week (just enough to colour the water pink) or by feeding green food that has been nourished with a complete fertiliser (includes trace elements). calcium, Phosphorous, vitamin D and manganese are all important to skeletal development' Calcium and phosphorous are required in a 2:1 ratio with vitamin D to incorporate them into bone. As seed has ample phosphorous but little calcium, the latter has to be provided and cuttlefish' lime blocks etc. should suffice. Vitamin D can be toxic if overdosed and if supplied, should concentrate on vitamin D3. However, an hour a day of sunlight will provide sufficient' Manganese is essential as a trace element cause curled toes and swollen hocks'
- (e) Short Tail Disease' As tail feathers emerge, they thicken and distort. The cause of this is unknown' it seems to affect hens more than cocks, and is spread by the tail biters' Affected birds do not recover'
- (f) Trichomoniasis. Produces a heavy exudate at the back of the crop and often causes bird to gulp and sometimes vomit. The crop becomes fluid filled. Treatment is by use of Emtryl at the rate indicated on the product (special measuring cup) but caution is required, as an overdose is toxic, and breeding birds are particularly susceptible to this, as they drink much more than normal'

Method

Mix 60ml Molasses, 60ml Mitavite Performa 3, 30ml Wheatgerm oil (use 50gm of Wheatgerm powder if oil unavailable) and 1ml Aniseed oil. Add to that a small amount of hot water about 50ml. Stir that up until all dissolved. Add the mix to the oats and other seeds and keep stirring until all seeds are completely coated, let sit for about 30 minutes add beetroot powder and stir until all seed is coated with beetroot powder. Add all other ingredients and stir well. Let stand and refrigerate until used. Will give about 3.5kg of Tonic Mix. Give each pair about 3 teaspoons as often as you like.

Barry Wise showed us how he mixes it up, we have changed how we mix slightly and most likely will in the future.

Just a note of Thanks to Barry on opening our eyes to the Tonic Mix. I hope people can experiment on what they feed their birds, this is a very important part of getting the best out of your birds and gives a great start in life for the growth of your chicks. You may or may not use this but that is your choice, we are just sharing our thought
